1. The first part of the paper is devoted to a general introduction of the subject, and to a statement of the objects and scope of the investigation. It is shown that the problem is of great importance, and that it has not been fully solved. The author then proceeds to state the results of his research, and to give a summary of the conclusions to which he has arrived.
 2. The second part of the paper is devoted to a detailed account of the methods employed in the investigation. It is shown that the methods are simple and direct, and that they are well adapted to the solution of the problem. The author then proceeds to give a detailed account of the results of his research, and to give a summary of the conclusions to which he has arrived.
 3. The third part of the paper is devoted to a discussion of the results of the investigation. It is shown that the results are in good agreement with the theoretical predictions, and that they are well adapted to the solution of the problem. The author then proceeds to give a detailed account of the results of his research, and to give a summary of the conclusions to which he has arrived.
 4. The fourth part of the paper is devoted to a summary of the results of the investigation. It is shown that the results are in good agreement with
 results of his research, and to give a summary of
